PROSPERITY

FOLLOWS IN YOUR FOOTSTEPS

It springs from the rich earth furrowed by your plough.

It is born of the wheat and the corn and the barley and all the food you produce.

Yes, your crops are the very foundation of our nation's prosperity, because food is an absolute necessity for every man, woman and child . . . because the growing of food is Canada's most important primary industry. And the greater your harvests — the more solid is prosperity's foundation.

The food you grow is also helping to build a lasting peace by warding off famine in the war-ravaged countries of Europe, during these years of reconstruction.

Indeed, yours is a tremendous responsibility . . . to the nation and to the world. But Canada is fully confident that you will continue to produce all the food you possibly can . . . that your foot-steps will never falter in the vanguard of prosperity.

*Canada And Farmer: Loss
U.S.A. Dollars*

Canada owes the United States a lot of American dollars for Canada is buying more from the United States each year than Canada is selling to the United States, so the Canadian Government is trying to encourage increased exports to the States. An easy way for Canada to get more precious American dollars would be to remove the existing governmental prohibition against the export of Canadian malting barley to the United States. In the last two years, because Canada has prohibited these exports, this country has lost 70 million American dollars and our prairie farmers have lost in cold cash at least 50 million dollars. Why not reopen this international trade to the great benefit of all? Canada can easily grow sufficient additional feed barley for her hogs by means of using just over one million acres of the existing 18 million acres of idle summerfallow, (a fair amount of which summerfallow, in my humble opinion, is quite necessary.) To allow at once the export of Canadian malting barley to the United States is something the Canadian Government can do and should do to the great benefit of all.

Americans want our barley. We want it. Why not sell it to them? This trade took years to build up. If we don't ship our barley the Americans will surely start to grow their own.

DDT on the Prairie Farm
Pure DDT is a complex chemical compound called dichloro-diphenyl-trichloroethane. For convenience, the first letter of each word of the chemical name is used—DDT. Undoubtedly DDT will eventually be used for the control of many of our most important agricultural insect pests, but at the present time prairie farmers will be interested chiefly in its use for the control of insects in the house, in the barn, and on livestock.

Important Facts. DDT is not a cure-all. In many cases it will not replace standard insecticides now in use. Owing to the poisonous properties of DDT it should be used cautiously. Knowing what DDT is, what form to buy, how best to apply it, and against which insect pests it is most effective is the key to its successful use. The best advice we can give is this. Select a preparation of DDT best suited to your particular needs and then follow the instructions given by the manufacturer.

DDT Circular. In response to the widespread demand from farmers and others for information on DDT, Line Elevators Farm Service is pleased to announce the publication of a circular entitled, "DDT—Its Use on the Prairie Farm." This circular deals with the use of DDT for the control of household pests, flies and mosquitoes in the barn, and some of the more common insect pests of livestock. The information it contains is authoritative and up-to-date having been prepared by Mr. W. S. McLeod, Lecturer in Entomology, University of Manitoba. A list of precautions to be exercised in using DDT preparations is included.

Copies of the DDT circular are available to farmers. They may be obtained through local Line Elevator agents, or from Line Elevators Farm Service, Winnipeg or Calgary.

ATTENTION: Seed Growers. File your applications for field inspection of standing crops for Registration and Certification at the earliest possible date, preferably before June 30th, with the District Supervisor, Plant Products Division, at Winnipeg, Saskatchewan, or Calgary.

Canadian Trade Exhibit Interests Foreign Buyers

Two hundred specific enquiries for Canadian commodities were listed by Canadian Trade Commissioners attending the British Industries Fair in London, England. A larger number of foreign buyers visited Canadian Exhibit than on any previous occasion, and many additional requests for information were received from buyers representing 90 different countries. As a result the Department of Trade and Commerce has established valuable contracts, available to Canadian business men, with foreign traders interested in both exporting and importing.

Free Services For Farmers

For the purpose of assisting the farmers of Canada to meet the economic problems with which they are constantly confronted and to carry on the industry of Canadian agriculture to the advantage of the nation as a whole, the Dominion Government has several millions of dollars invested in free services and facilities.

No other industry has at its disposal such a wide and varied range of services and facilities provided by the Government. They include the Dominion-wide system of Experimental Farms and Stations, the divisions of Dairy Research, Botany and Plant Pathology, Chemistry, Entomology and Plant Protection of the Science Service, the divisions of Health of Animals, Plant Production and Livestock with their field services of the Production Service, the Marketing Service, in which is centralized the administration of all grading services of livestock and livestock products, dairy products, poultry, eggs, fruit, vegetables, canned goods, maple products and honey, and the Division of Agricultural Economics, which serves as a fact-finding body concerning production and marketing.

Results of the research work and experiments of all these services of the Dominion Department of Agriculture are made known to farmers and the people of Canada generally through free publications, the press and radio, exhibits and other ways directed by the Publicity and Extension Division.

Those engaged in the industry of Agriculture, whether directly or indirectly, are invited to make full use of the services and facilities as outlined. They are free.

A Challenging Opportunity

This week the Canadian Red Cross Society places a new and vital appeal before the citizens of Alberta. The appeal -- not for money -- is for voluntary blood donors, people who are willing to give their blood so that every hospital patient in Alberta who needs transfusion therapy because of accident, illness or other medical reasons may have it free of any charge.

Most of us are familiar with Canada's wartime blood donor programme to supply the blood plasma which saved the lives of countless wounded Canadians. During the war years the people of Alberta established an outstanding record in this field of activity which was the envy of many provinces.

A survey of Canadian hospitals, including those in Alberta, emphasized the post war need for the same kind of service, a service that will benefit all of us. It is up to all of us to do our part so that we may share with others the knowledge that our willingness to volunteer our blood will mean many lives saved.

Wartime research in the new uses of human blood and its derivatives has brought about outstanding medical advances. Human blood and plasma have been used with great effectiveness in the treatment of those injured and burned.

The Canadian Red Cross has undertaken to provide this peace time Blood Transfusion Service. With far-sighted community spirit the Red Cross Branch has accepted the responsibility of undertaking the registration of our citizens as voluntary donors.

This newspaper goes on record as standing whole-heartedly behind the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service as a challenging opportunity for the citizens of this community to take an active and essential part in a great humanitarian effort.

Register now with the Canadian Red Cross as a voluntary blood donor and help save lives.

Nutrition Question Box

Can we use too much salt? Miss Joyce Lewis, Nutritionist for the Home Economics Service of the Alberta Department of Agriculture says that we can. Salt in moderation is alright she says, but the habit of always reaching for the salt shaker before we even taste our food is a bad one. Too much salt may stimulate the digestive system and interfere with the absorption of foods. It may also cause a retention of water in the tissues, interfering with other body processes requiring water.

Salt is composed of sodium and chlorine, two minerals both essential for our bodies but both widely distributed in our natural foods. Profuse sweating deprives the body of salt, so a good supply of salt is desirable in very hot weather or when doing strenuous work which causes sweating. Ordinarily additional salt is not necessary and using it too profusely is a questionable practice.
